Dear Teacher.

The CITGO® Fueling Education program brings learning to a whole new level by sending teachers comprehensive resources, free school supplies and opportunities to attend compelling workshops by renowned STEM educator Steve Spangler. But we also want kids to be exposed to learning in science, technology, engineering and math at home through a combination of great literature, innovative play and family discussion.

Inside this booklet, you'll find simple, fun materials intended to help families get involved in their kids' learning one idea at a time. And we've made sending these materials home easy by doing all of the copying for you! Simply tear off a page, send it home in your students' backpacks and let the learning begin!

Sincerely,

Fueling
